Grand County Colorado Clerk and Recorder Live with Aptitude Solutions' OnCore Recording System

Maitland, Florida -- (August 6, 2007) -- Aptitude Solutions, a division of Fortune 500 company Fidelity National Information Services, Inc. (NYSE:FNF) and leading provider of innovative technology solutions for county government, including OnCore county recording and workflow management systems, tax deed filing systems, document management systems and court case management systems, today announced the implementation in Grand County, Colorado Clerk and Recorder's Offices with complete recording software technology.

Grand County Colorado represents the 8th County in Colorado to implement Aptitude Solutions' OnCore recording platform, a system used by county government for electronic land records indexing and eRecording.

The OnCore System revolutionizes traditional recording methods, allowing recorders to automatically index directly from the scanned image by working through a queue system. With the ability to handle high volume recording, OnCore offers immediate turn-around for the customer's documents.

Grand County Clerk and Recorder, Sara Rosene comments, "We are very excited and impressed with OnCore, our new recording software package. It is versatile and user friendly. We feel it will take us into the 21st century and fits right into our plan of doing more with less,"

The OnCore system's scan-first technology allows the County to image all documents coming into the county immediately, creating a digital work environment for reception number stamping, quality checks, indexing, and verification. The initial scan minimizes paper handling in additional areas by enabling employees to instantly scan miscellaneous papers such as cover letters, check payments, and secure marriage applications accessible by authorized staff.

President, Paul Miller explains, "We are very excited about our partnership with Grand County and confident that OnCore will streamline the entire document recording process."
